What's Broken in Today's Market

01.

Broken financial incentives

The system makes more money when it spends less on customer service.

02.

Reliance on intermediaries

There are too many operational layers between the insurer and the actual solution.

03.

Loss of customer control

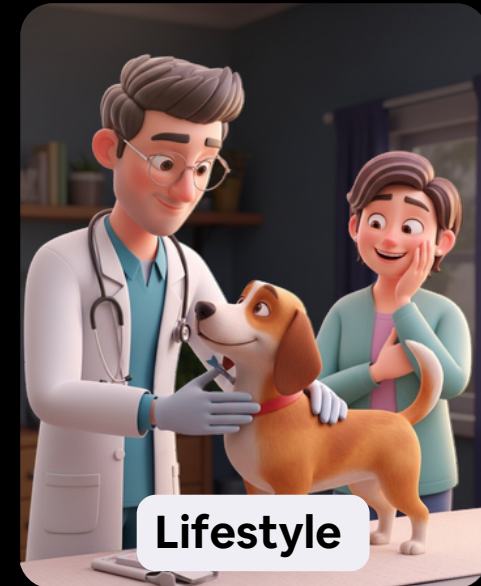

Insurance companies outsource their customer experience to external third parties.

04.

Outdated infrastructure

The current model still relies on manual processes and structures designed before the AI era.

The Problem We Solve

The traditional insurance assistance model is slow, expensive, and operationally inefficient. Insurers still rely on call centers, intermediaries, and manual coordination to manage basic services like road service, Pets, Home, & health assistance...

Weso replaces that fragmented infrastructure with an AI-powered end-to-end operation that automates service coordination in real time, reducing costs, improving efficiency, and transforming assistance into a scalable pay-per-use model.

What Changes for Insurers

From fragmented service operations to One unified AI-powered platform.

Before

With Weso

Fixed Capitation

Pay for every insured member

Usage-Based Payments

Pay only for completed services

- Multiple TPAs
- Multiple Assistance Companies
- Multiple Call Centers
- Multiple Customer Channels
- Multiple Contracts
- Multiple Dashboards
- Fixed Capitation
- Disconnected operations

- One Operating Platform
- One Contract
- One Customer Channel
- One Dashboard
- One Provider Ecosystem
- One Operational Layer
- Pay per Completed Service

Today: Insurers pay for service availability.

With WESO Insurers pay only for service execution.

Built for Global Scale

A scalable, repeatable insurance infrastructure model built for global expansion.

Plug-and-Play Deployment

Quick to implement and easy to integrate into existing insurance operations.

Global, Repeatable Problem

The same operational pain exists across markets: fragmentation, intermediaries, poor visibility and manual coordination.

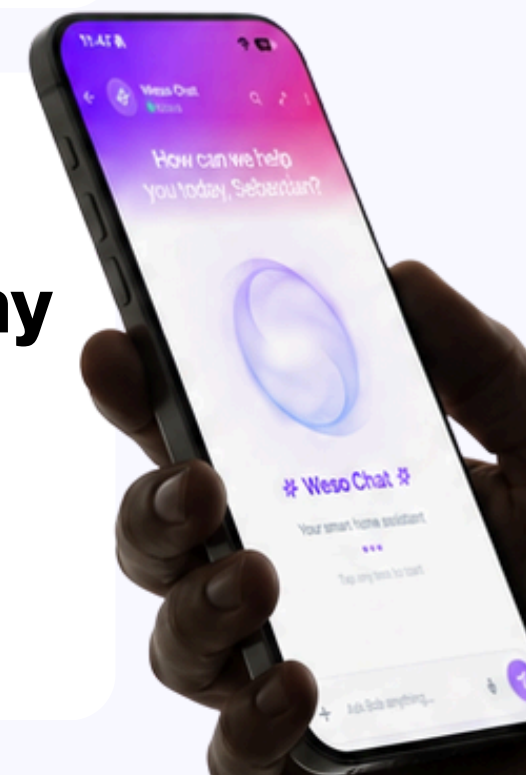

Scalable Revenue Model

Platform fee plus a fee for every service processed creates recurring revenue with volume upside.

Expansion by Category & Geography

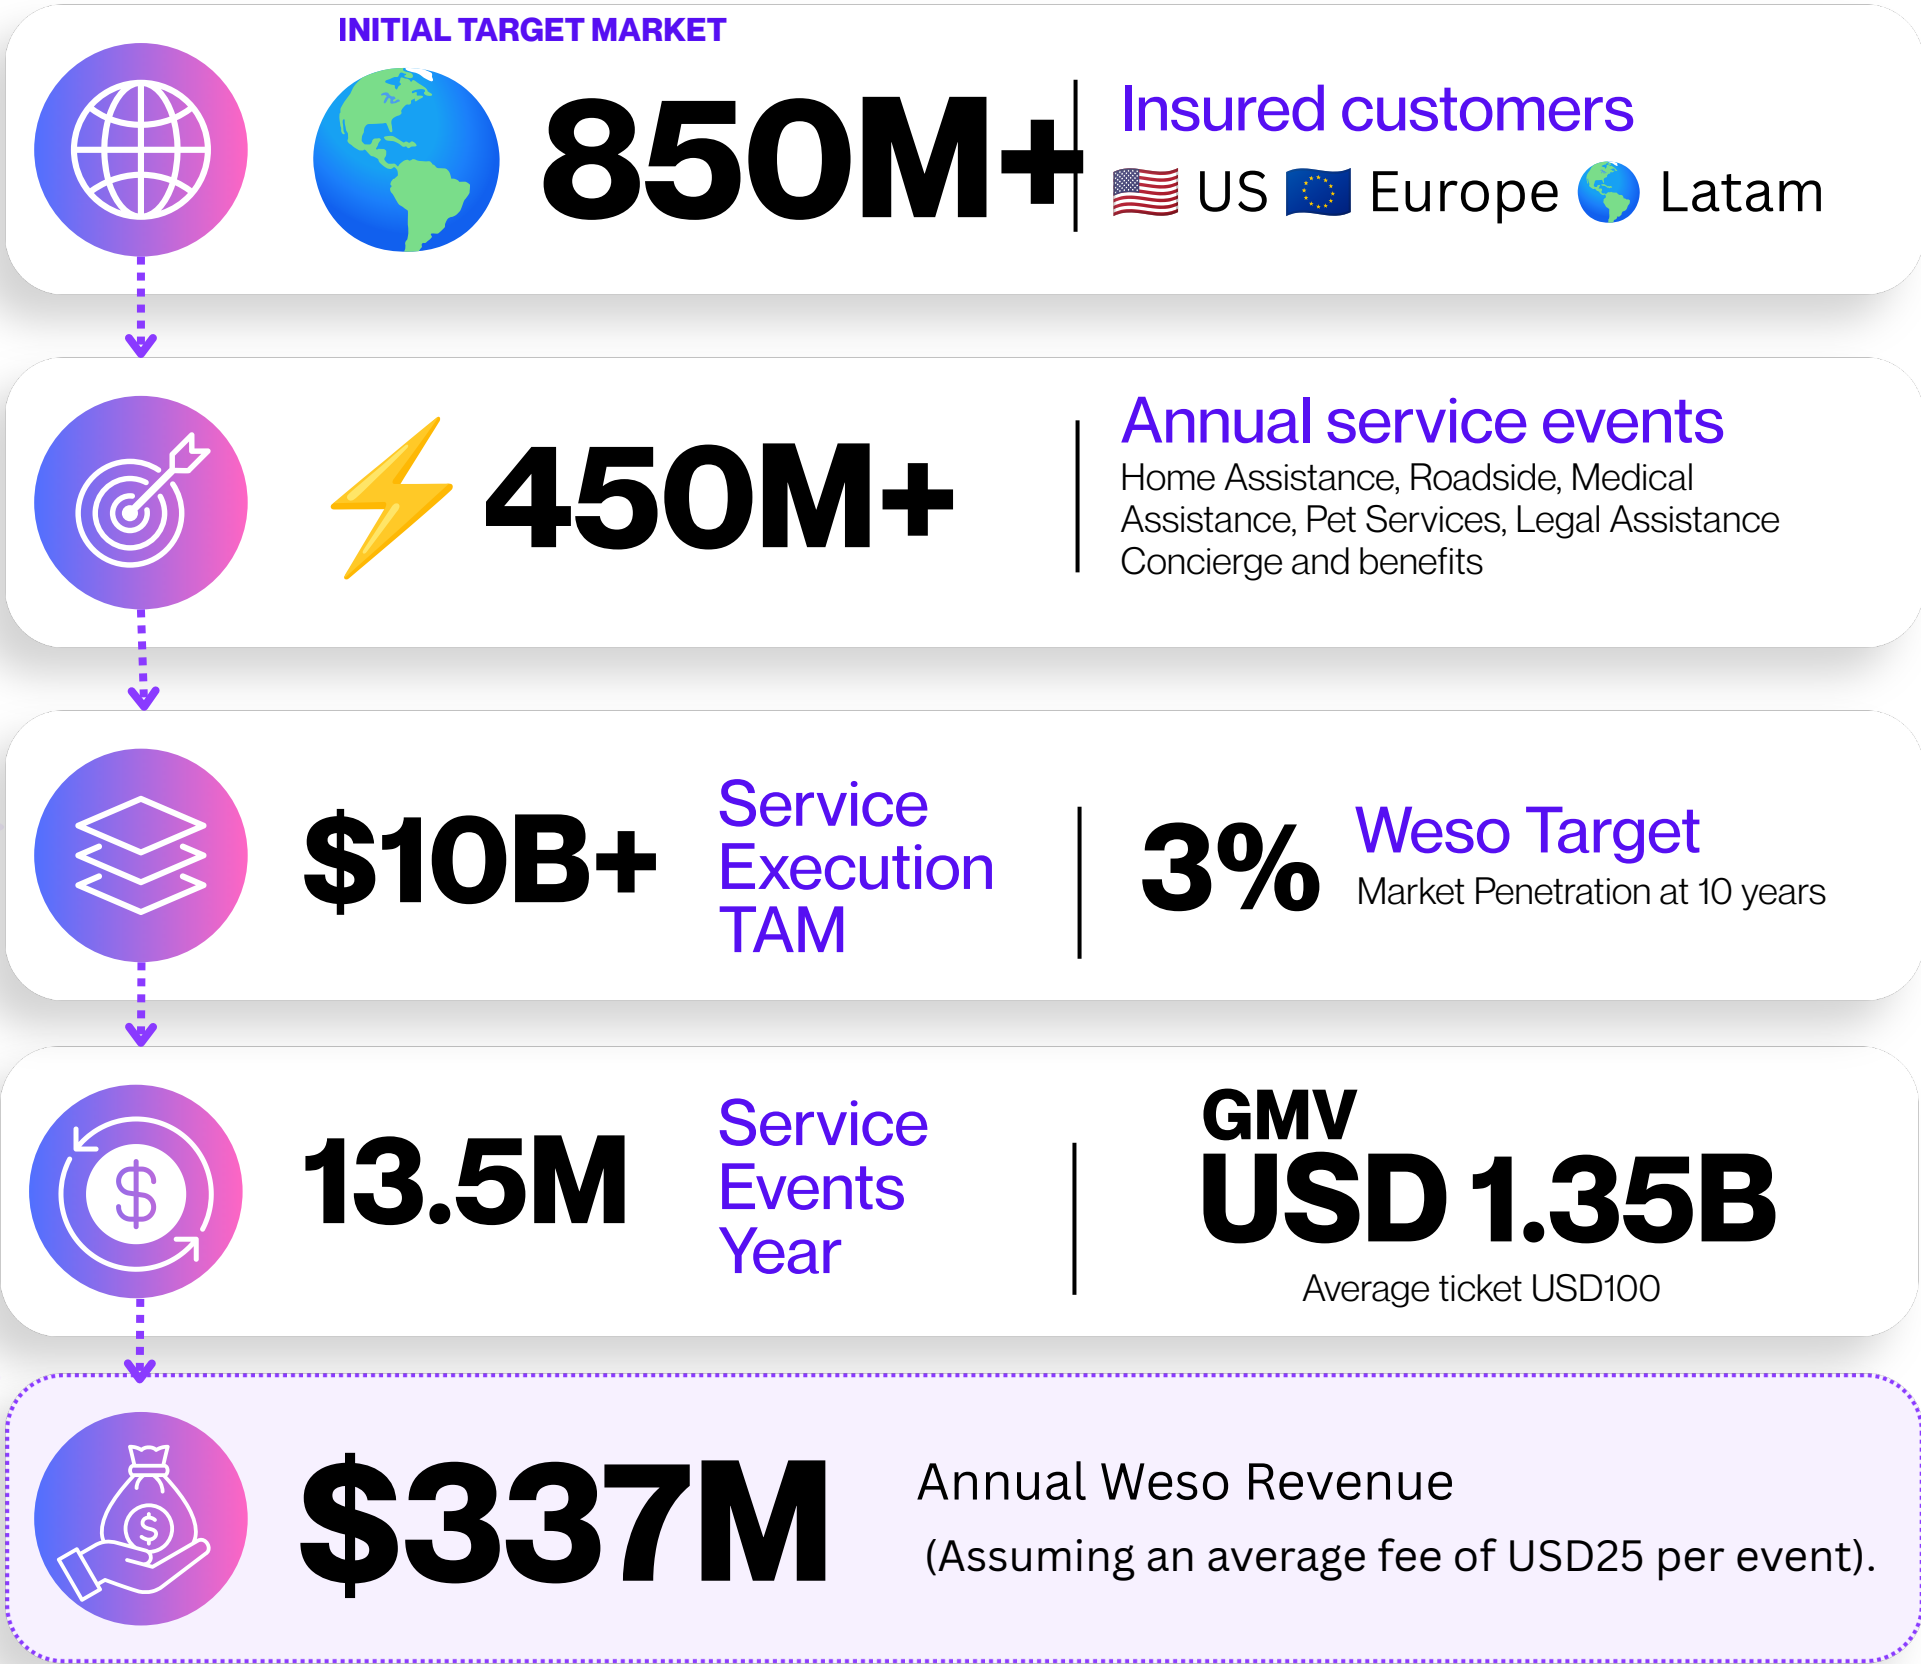

Start with one workflow or service line, then expand across categories, accounts, and new markets.

> Built once. Expanded across insurers, categories, and geographies.

Market Global Opportunity

A Global Operational Layer Behind Insurance

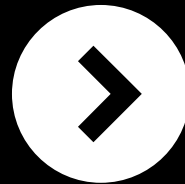

Changing the Economics

From paying for insured members to paying only for services used.
